> How to read this rulebook
> Every rule has a number (for example 4.3). Organisers and agencies refer to rules by number. Where this rulebook and any other material (posters, the website, social media, verbal briefings) differ, this rulebook applies, subject to rule 1.4.

1 Authority, decisions and records

1.1 Doomsday is organised and run by the organising committee of The Finance Club (“the Organisers”). By registering, every agency and every founder accepts this rulebook in full.

1.2 All decisions of the Organisers are final and binding. This covers rules, scoring, timing, eligibility, penalties, results and any matter this rulebook does not cover. There are no appeals, reviews, recounts or re-runs, and no decision will be reopened after it is announced.

1.3 Decisions taken on the spot by the Organisers’ crew (quiz host, auctioneer, ledger keepers, scorers, marshals and the anchor) within their role are final.

1.4 The Organisers may interpret, amend or add to these rules, change timings, change the format of any segment, and change the number of agencies advancing from any stage, before or during the event. A change applies from the moment it is announced on stage or on the event website.

1.5 Official records. The event website (its timestamps, scores and Fund Ledger) is the official record. If the website is unavailable, the Organisers’ paper backup sheets are the official record. For the prelim quiz, the website server’s clock is the only clock that counts.

1.6 If a question, card, prop or system fails, the Organisers may void it, replace it, repeat a step, or decide on the records available. Problems with a participant’s own phone, battery, data or network are the agency’s responsibility and give no right to a replay.

1.7 Every agency is responsible for knowing these rules. Not knowing a rule, or having misheard a briefing, is not a ground for any change of result.

1.8 Organisers do not discuss or explain individual scoring decisions during the event beyond what is shown on the projector, the website and this rulebook.

1.9 This version (1.3) replaces every earlier version of the rulebook.

2 The event at a glance

Doomsday: Multiverse of Money is a 3-hour event. Agencies start with a virtual ₹50 crore. Five stages reduce the field to one Hero Agency.

Stage	Format	Who advances
Prelim · Hero Ya Zero?	15-question live quiz on the website (15 min)	Top 16
Round 1 · Power Bazaar	Physical auction for 4 gear cards, recorded on the website ledger (50 min)	Every agency that completes its hero (rule 6.12)
Round 2 · Operation: Skyline	Poster duels, then a tower-and-slingshot challenge (35 min)	Top 10 Tower Scores
Round 3 · The Doomsday Vault	Four paper puzzle missions; sealed Mission File envelopes (31 min)	All 10 finalists go to Zero Hour
Zero Hour	Envelopes opened, Hero Scores calculated, results announced (20 min)	One Hero Agency

An agency eliminated at any stage takes no further part in the competition.

3 Agencies and eligibility

3.1 Doomsday is open to IMI students only. Every founder registers with their own @imi.edu email ID.

3.2 An agency is a team of three founders, or fewer only where the Organisers allowed it at registration. A student may be a founder of only one agency.

3.2a Team changes. Founders are named at registration. Until the first prelim question opens, the Organisers may, at the registration desk and for a stated reason, replace a founder, add or remove one (a team keeps 1 to 3 founders) or change the captain. A new founder must be an IMI student with an @imi.edu email who is not in another agency. After that, no change is possible.

3.3 Each agency gets an ID (A01, A02 …) and a PIN at registration. The ID is used on the quiz, paddles, slates, posters, answer sheets and the ledger. The PIN is shown once; keep it private.

3.4 Anything done on the website with an agency's ID and PIN is treated as done by that agency. A lost PIN is reset only at the check-in desk.

3.5 One phone per agency for the quiz. During the prelim, signing in on a second phone signs the first one out. After 5 wrong PIN attempts, sign-in for that ID is locked for 60 seconds.

3.6 All founders should be present from Round 1 onwards. An agency must be checked in at the desk before the prelim to take part.

4 Money, the Fund Ledger and the Hero Score

The agency with the highest Hero Score at Zero Hour wins.

4.1 Power Level = the Power of the agency's 4 gear cards + Team-Up bonuses + Breaking News changes. It is fixed when Round 1 is locked.

4.2 Battle Outcome = the multiplier inside the Mission File envelope the agency holds when the envelopes are opened at Zero Hour.

4.3 Fund left = Round 1 leftover + poster bonus + mission cash + net Chai Pe Charcha receipts − Force Fields − fines. Round 1 leftover already includes gear, Jugaad Kit and Insider Tip payments; they are never deducted twice.

4.4 All money is virtual ₹ crore. There are no real payments of any kind.

4.5 All money sits on one Fund Ledger, kept by two ledger keepers and shown live on each agency's My Agency page. The ledger is the only record of money; claims of money not on the ledger are not recognised.

4.6 Bids and payments move in ₹0.5 Cr steps. No agency may spend more than its fund left.

4.7 Transfers between agencies are allowed only in Round 3's Chai Pe Charcha and count only once a ledger keeper has recorded them.

4.8 A ledger mistake is corrected only by the ledger keepers, by a new entry or by voiding the wrong one, with a reason. Entries are never edited or deleted.

Every money movement in the event

When	Amount	Rule
Round 1 start	+₹50 Cr	Starting fund for every qualified agency
Round 1	−₹2 Cr	Optional Insider Tip (one per agency)
Round 1	−winning bid	Each gear card won
Round 1	−₹8 Cr each	Forced Jugaad Kit (Power 2) for every category still missing after Last Call
Round 2	+₹5 Cr	Poster duel winner (or a bye), only if it also reaches the top 10 in the tower game
Round 3	−₹5 Cr	Force Field: one per finalist, for the whole of Round 3
Round 3	+₹5 Cr	Mini game winner's cash option, instead of Swap or X-Ray
Round 3	± any	Chai Pe Charcha cash deals between agencies, recorded by a ledger keeper
Round 3	−₹5 Cr	Fine for opening another agency's Mission File

No other money movement exists. A fine applies even if it takes an agency's fund below zero.

5 Prelim · Hero Ya Zero?

A 15-question live quiz on the event website. Questions appear on the projector; each agency answers on one phone.

Category (played in this order)	Questions	Options	Timer (T)	Weight (W)	Max points
Marvel Ya DC? Company Edition (violet)	4	2	10 s	1	4,000
Teen Clue, Ek Hero (blue)	4	4	10 s	1	4,000
Superhero Share Bazaar (green)	4	4	20 s	2	8,000
Hero Ka Business (white)	3	4	10 s	1	3,000
Total	15				19,000

$$\text{points} = \text{round}(1000 \times W \times (1 - t \div 2T))$$

if the answer is correct and t ≤ T; otherwise 0. t = seconds from the question opening to the answer reaching the server, to 0.1 s. Halves round up.

5.1 Sign in with the agency ID and PIN before the quiz starts. Joining closes when question 1 opens. A phone that drops may sign back in as the same agency; questions missed score 0.

5.2 The quiz plays one category at a time, in the order above; each category has its own colour on the projector and the phones, and its first question opens with a 5-second category intro. Every question opens for all agencies at the same moment, after a short 3-2-1 read-in. The answer locks on the first tap and cannot be changed.

5.3 An answer that reaches the server after the timer ends scores 0, whatever the phone showed.

5.4 Right/wrong and points are shown only after the host reveals the answer.

5.5 The quiz host may void a broken or disputed question and replace it with a spare from the same segment. Points from a voided question do not count for anyone.

5.6 Ranking: total points, highest first. Tie-break 1: the lower total response time on correct answers. Tie-break 2 (for 16th place only): one sudden-death question on stage.

5.7 The top 16 advance to Round 1. The final board is shown on the projector and the leaderboard; the top 16 is then frozen.

6 Round 1 · Power Bazaar

Each of the top 16 agencies builds its hero by winning one HQ, one Suit, one Gadget and one Sidekick from 60 gear cards (15 per category, one fewer than the agencies). Each card shows a public Power (1–10) and a minimum bid. Bidding is physical; every result is entered on the website ledger.

Phase	Length	How it works
Rules	3 min	The anchor explains the phases, bid rules and the Jugaad Kit
Insider Tips	1 min window	Each agency may buy one tip for ₹2 Cr on its My Agency page while the window is open. The website picks one upcoming Breaking News card at random and shows it to that agency only
Marquee Auction	10 min	The top 2 cards of each category (8 lots), live with paddles; opening bid = the card's minimum
Secret Identity Bids	22 min	The other 52 cards, one at a time: a 20-second window to bid on My Agency, then every bid is shown on the projector
Last Call	3 min	Unsold cards re-auctioned live, only to agencies still missing that category, from the minimum
Breaking News	6 min	The 6 news cards and the 3 Team-Ups (+3 Power each) are revealed
Ledger check	4 min	Each agency confirms its gear, Power Level and fund left

6.1 A valid bid is at least the card's minimum, at most the agency's fund left, and in ₹0.5 Cr steps. Anything else counts as a pass.

6.2 One card per category per agency. An agency may not bid in a category it already holds.

6.3 Secret Identity Bids are typed on phones. For each card the Organisers open a 20-second window. Each agency that still needs that category may type one blind bid on its My Agency page, and may change or withdraw it until the window closes. No bid counts as a pass. A bid the website refuses (below the minimum, above the fund left, off the ₹0.5 Cr step) is not a bid. Only bids the website has received before the window closes count; a phone, battery or network problem is the agency's own (rule 1.6). When the window closes, every bid is shown on the projector.

6.4 The highest valid bid wins and is paid at once. Winning bids are final and cannot be withdrawn.

6.5 Tie for the highest bid: in the Marquee Auction and Last Call, the tied agencies re-bid once; if still tied, a coin toss decides. In Secret Identity Bids, the bid that reached the website first wins (a changed bid counts from the moment it was changed).

6.6 A card with no valid bid goes unsold to Last Call. Cards run one category at a time, in a shuffled order.

6.7 The auctioneer's call on who bid what, and when, is final.

6.8 Insider Tips are optional, cost ₹2 Cr, and are limited to one per agency. Once the window closes no tip can be bought. A tip is private; sharing it is allowed but at the agency's own risk.

6.9 Breaking News cards change the Power of the gear they name, for every agency holding that gear. Team-Ups add +3 Power to an agency holding both named cards.

6.10 An agency still missing a category after Last Call must take a Jugaad Kit (Power 2) for ₹8 Cr for each missing category.

6.11 An agency that cannot pay for all of its Jugaad Kits is eliminated.

6.12 All other agencies go through to Round 2.

6.13 Ledger check. Each agency must check its 4 cards, Power Level and fund left on My Agency and raise any difference with a ledger keeper during the ledger check. When Round 1 is locked, gear, Power Level and fund left are final and are not reopened.

7 Round 2 · Operation: Skyline

Part A · Signal Before the Storm (posters, 5 min)

7.1 Each agency draws a poster on the sheet provided, showing its agency ID, the hero built in Round 1, the hero's identity and its doomsday mission. Original artwork only; the Organisers may refuse any poster.

7.2 Agencies are paired at random for poster duels. With an odd number of agencies, one gets a bye.

7.3 Posters are published on the club's Instagram stories and voted on there. Votes count until the cutoff (the last team's slingshot shot). The counts recorded at the cutoff by the social-media lead are final.

7.4 The higher vote count wins each duel; a tie is settled by rock-paper-scissors. The winner (or a bye) gets +₹5 Cr only if it also finishes in the top 10 of the tower game. A losing opponent never inherits the bonus. Posters never affect qualification.

Part B · Skyline: Build. Break. (30 min)

Step	Time	What happens
Reference viewing	1 min 30 s	Each team sees a colour-coded block-tower photo; then all references are hidden
Tower building	10 min	All teams build from memory at once. Completion time is recorded; each build is frozen and photographed
Slingshot construction	8 min	Build a launcher from the props supplied. No practice shots. Safety check before firing
Single-shot takedown	6 min	One shot per team in a controlled lane; blocks fallen are recorded
Judge and qualify	4 min 30 s	Scores computed, cutoff ties settled, top 10 announced, poster bonuses credited

$$\text{Tower Score} = (A + S + D) \div 3$$

A = 100 × blocks in the correct position and colour ÷ blocks in the reference · S = 100 × (1 − build time ÷ 10 min) · D = 100 × built blocks that fall after the shot ÷ blocks in the frozen build

7.5 Build time runs from the reference being hidden to the team declaring its build final. An unfinished build freezes at 10 min with S = 0. D = 0 if nothing was built.

7.6 Once a build is declared final or frozen, nobody from the agency may touch it.

7.7 Each team fires exactly one shot. A shot fired before the marshal's signal, or outside the lane, counts as taken with 0 blocks fallen.

7.8 Scorers count correct blocks, build time and blocks fallen; their counts are final. Rankings use unrounded scores.

7.9 The 10 highest Tower Scores qualify for Round 3. A tie at the cutoff is settled by rock-paper-scissors or a short quiz, announced before play. All other agencies are eliminated.

7.10 Soft foam projectiles only. Nobody may stand in the target area. A marshal may stop any launcher judged unsafe.

8 Round 3 · The Doomsday Vault

The 10 finalists each hold one sealed Mission File envelope containing a secret Battle Outcome multiplier. Envelopes are numbered E1–E10 on the outside and are shuffled and dealt face down. They are opened only at Zero Hour.

Battle Outcome	Multiplier	Envelopes
City saved, statue unveiled	×3	1
Trending #1 across India	×2	1
Clean win, zero damage	×1.5	3
Saved the day, just about	×1	3
₹100 crore property damage bill	×0.5	1
Villain escaped	×0.25	1

The four missions

#	Mission	Task	The answer must give
1	The Multiverse Grid	Sort 16 titles or pictures into 4 groups of 4 and name each connection	All four groups and their labels
2	Across the Multiverse	Complete a compact Marvel/DC crossword	Every answer in the grid
3	Before the World Ends	Put 5 movies or events in chronological order	The order asked for on the sheet
4	The Shutdown Key	Solve superhero hints into a 4-character code	The code, with order and case as stated on the sheet

Each mission

Step	Time	What happens
Play	4 min	All finalists solve at once, seated, on paper; one submission each
Results	1 min	Scorers confirm the winner, if any
Winner’s choice	30 s	Swap, X-Ray or ₹5 Cr (rule 8.6)
Chai Pe Charcha	1 min	Information sales, cash deals and bluffing

8.1 Each agency may read its own envelope privately, then must keep it sealed on the table in view at all times. Only the anchor moves envelopes, and does so visibly.

8.2 Submissions. One answer sheet per agency per mission, handed to a scorer, who writes its arrival order on it (1, 2, 3 …). A submitted sheet is final.

8.3 Scorers check sheets in arrival order. The first fully correct sheet wins. There is no partial credit and no reward for runners-up. If no sheet is fully correct by the buzzer, the mission has no winner.

8.4 The scorers’ decision on whether a sheet is correct, and on arrival order, is final.

8.5 Force Field window. Once every finalist has read its envelope, the Organisers open one 1-minute window, shown on the projector. During it each finalist may buy one Force Field for ₹5 Cr on its My Agency page. Purchases are private: only the Organisers see who bought one. No Force Field can be bought after the window closes.

8.6 Winner's choice (one of three): Swap envelopes with any agency, unseen; X-Ray one agency's envelope privately with a marshal; or take ₹5 Cr. A winner who has not chosen within 30 seconds loses the choice.

8.6a Playing a Force Field. When a winner names an agency for a Swap, that agency may play its Force Field at once: the swap is blocked and the winner's choice for that mission is used up: the winner gets no other Swap, X-Ray or ₹5 Cr. A Force Field blocks only a Swap, can be played only once in Round 3 (including Mission 4's choice at Zero Hour), and is not refunded if never played.

8.7 Chai Pe Charcha. Agencies may talk, trade information, bluff and agree cash deals. Lying is allowed. Only cash transfers recorded by a ledger keeper count; any other promise is not enforced by the Organisers.

8.8 No talking between agencies during the Play step. Agencies may not show their own envelope's contents to anyone.

8.9 Opening, marking or handling another agency's envelope costs a ₹5 Cr fine, every time.

8.10 Mission 4: its winner chooses straight after it, like the others; there is no Chai Pe Charcha after it.

8.11 Before the first mission the Organisers record which agency holds which envelope, and record every swap as it happens. That record decides each agency's Battle Outcome.

9 Zero Hour and awards

9.1 Round 3 ends with Mission 4's winner's choice. No further moves are allowed after that.

9.2 The Organisers open every envelope and calculate each finalist's Hero Score with the formula in section 4. No agency sees its result before the announcement.

9.3 Results are announced on stage in this order: 3rd place, then 2nd place, then 1st place. The final leaderboard with all three follows.

9.4 Ties. Agencies level on Hero Score are separated by the higher fund left, then the higher Power Level. If still level for a podium place, a coin toss on stage decides.

9.5 Hero Scores are calculated exactly, without rounding.

Award	Decided by
Mahanagar's Hero Agency of the Year	Highest Hero Score
Overall Runner-up	Second-highest Hero Score
Third place	Third-highest Hero Score
Best Launch Poster	Most story votes at the Round 2 cutoff (recognition only; no cash)

10 Code of conduct and penalties

10.1 Play fair. No help from anyone outside the agency, and no search engines, AI tools or messaging for answers, during the quiz and the missions.

10.2 No collusion between agencies outside Chai Pe Charcha. No bidding on another agency's behalf.

10.3 Never sign in as, or use the PIN of, another agency. Never try to interfere with the website, the projector, the ledger, the props or another agency's materials.

10.4 Follow the instructions of the crew at all times, especially marshals in the firing lanes.

10.5 Respect everyone. Humour targets situations, never people, communities or bodies. Offensive posters, slates, answers or behaviour are not allowed.

10.6 Take care of the venue and the props. Damage caused deliberately or carelessly is the agency's responsibility.

10.7 Penalties. For a breach of this rulebook the Organisers may, at their discretion, give a warning, void the result of a question, bid, sheet or shot, apply the fine in rule 8.9, or disqualify the agency. A disqualified agency loses all results and awards. Penalties are final (rule 1.2).

11 Schedule

Times assume a 5:30 pm start in the auditorium and are indicative. The Organisers may adjust them on the day (rule 1.4).
